We Hunt

For companies, we hunt the market and attract candidates by:

- Direct search and selection (head hunting).
- Bespoke recruitment projects.
- Anonymous advertising recruitment assignments.
- Our attractive and informative web-site with on-line vacancies (15,000+ visits per month and growing).
- Using the knowledge of our team of well-networked professionals.
- Forming strategic alliances with many of the leading online recruitment job sites.
- Investing our own revenues in a wide variety of specialist recruitment media to constantly attract the best applicants, including 'Comms Dealer'.
- Rewarding our applicants who refer friends and/or colleagues.

For applicants, we ensure jobs are there at all levels and in all sizes of organisations by:

- Forming strategic alliances and long term partnerships with market leaders.
- Constantly enhancing close working relationships with clients.
- Listing hundreds of current vacancies each day on the website, allowing the visitor to scroll, focus, register interest on-line, or tell a friend.

We also act as advisers on benefits packages and we provide pertinent advice on career development. In all our actions, total confidentiality is assured.

Welcome to TTR UK Ltd

“We established TTR with the specific purpose of serving the telecommunications and technology markets. Now we are one of the foremost recruitment solutions consultancies in this sector, with a wide UK client base and an international outlook.

With a full range of focused recruitment services, and a significant monthly spend in a variety of traditional, specialist and internet media, I'm glad to report that TTR has been highly successful in:

- Attracting key telecoms and technology professionals and identifying the best opportunities for them.
- Encouraging partnerships with strategically-targeted telecoms and technology-led solutions organisations and large end user companies.

My background has encompassed sales, marketing and recruitment positions in the electronics and telecoms field, and within TTR, many of our consultants have similar, relevant experience, so we are well networked.

We have earned a reputation for a proactive and creative approach to recruitment, and for providing sharp turnabout times.

Call or email us now for details.”

What does your recruitment consultancy do for you?

We Search

- Our endeavours have attracted active interest from recognised industry partners, with which we now have 200+ fruitful business relationships UK wide.
- We have access to over 100,000 applicants, consisting of four main categories:

Senior – Director level upwards

Technical – Engineering, telecoms and technology disciplines to manager level

Commercial – Sales and marketing to manager levels.

Field-based personnel – Engineers/Technicians etc.

- Our new website currently has 10,000+ visitors per month. We have an ever-increasing number of submitted CVs, 75% of which are transmitted across the net.
- Once hooked, our pool of candidates are assessed and matched to opportunities. They are then exposed to a wider range of employers and jobs, which may not be advertised elsewhere.

We Succeed

- The people and skills shortage in the telecoms and technology market sectors have meant that TTR can probably now offer good candidates a choice of six jobs at any one time. This also means that our clients need proactive solutions from TTR for many of their key vacancies.
- Applicant interviews are arranged with clients within two to three weeks of registering vacancies and, in some cases, within hours. Such a resultant time saving makes economic sense for client and applicant alike.
- TTR advertises jobs from under £20K to over £100K, for positions throughout the UK and into Continental Europe.
- Good applicants are hard to find. We are looking 365 days a year.
- All clients requirements are different. It is imperative that your recruitment company understands your requirements. Knowledge is power and information is key. These are our USP's.
- Speed and quality of service is also important so our turnaround times can be as little as hours.
